SCOTT SATTERFIELD

Scott Satterfield has enjoyed success at every stop of his 25-year playing and coaching career, most notably in his 22 years at Appalachian State University, where he enters the 2018 season as the Mountaineers' sixth-year head coach.

Satterfield has taken the Mountaineers to new heights as they have made the move to the FBS level in historic fashion. Under his direction, App State became the first team in college football history to win bowl games in each of its first three years eligible after making the transition from FCS, claiming wins in the 2015 and 2016 Camellia Bowls and the 2017 Dollar General Bowl. He led App State to a Sun Belt-record 11 wins in the program's first bowl-eligible season and has captured a Sun Belt Conference championship each of the last two years.

With a 27-5 record in four seasons in the Sun Belt, three straight bowl wins and two conference championships, Satterfield has quickly established App State as one of the premier programs, not only in the Sun Belt, but across all the Group of 5 conferences. The Mountaineers' 36-9 overall record over the last 45 games trails only Alabama, Clemson, Ohio State and Wisconsin among all FBS programs, while Satterfield's team has been victorious in 34 of its last 38 games against Group of 5 teams.

With App State leading the Sun Belt in attendance each of the last two seasons and capturing the two largest television audiences of any conference team a year ago, the fan base is primed to celebrate more championships and historic feats under the direction of Satterfield, who was also on the Mountaineers' staff during their run of three straight FCS national titles from 2005-07.
